Not sure what the protocol is, or how best to handle the icon, but here's a patch that adds some padding to the icon-del class when preceded by icon-edit in a .contextual wrapper div. I don't think that structure occurs anywhere else?

Thanks for your patch, Jamon. Generally, we accept patches as attachments here or as Pull Requests on Github (with the latter preferred). For more information, please see our [\[\[Contribute\]\]](#) guide.

As for your patch, unfortunately just setting a fixed horizontal margin isn't sufficient, as different languages have very different text widths. So the 75 pixel margin could be much too wide or much too slim for certain languages.

With <https://github.com/chiliproject/chiliproject/pull/151> I attempt to fix it generically.

Ah! Makes perfect sense, I see how you did it in the linked diff. I wasn't looking at the overall structure of the title-bar. Thanks for the explanation.
